General Wesley Merritt, SUPERINTENDENT OF THE WEST POINT
MILITARY ACADEMY.

Another year of study began at the West Point Military Academy with the present month, and the time is opportune to present a portrait and sketch of the distinguished soldier who is Superintendent of that institution.

General Wesley Merritt was born in New York in the year 1836. He graduated at West Point in the class of 1860, and was then commissioned brevet Second Lieutenant of the Dragoons.

Two years after he was commissioned Captain in the Second United States Cavalry. At the outbreak of the war he was in Utah Territory, from whence he was summoned to Washington, where he remained during the winter of 1861-2. He was on the staff of General Stoneman in his raid on Richmond, in April, 1863.

His promotion as Brigadier-General of Volunteers was given him in June of the same year, shortly before the battle of Gettysburg, where he distinguished himself. He was breveted Major for his bravery in that important engagement. From 1863 to 1864 he commanded a division of cavalry in central Virginia. He afterwards served under General Sheridan in the Richmond campaign of 1864, and was breveted Lieutenant-Colonel and later, Colonel, for his brilliant soldiership as displayed at this time. Merritt was engaged in the Shenandoah campaign throughout, greatly distinguishing himself and was breveted Major-general of Volunteers in recognition of his courage and ability. His part of the battle of Five Forks and other engagements, also the surrender of the Confederate army at Appomattox Court-House, led to his being made a Major-General. After the war he was commissioned Lieutenant-Colonel of the Ninth United States Cavalry. This was on July 28, 1869, some six months after his being mustered out of the Volunteer service. He has seen much service since that date, chiefly in operations against the Indians. His Colonelship of the Fifth United States Cavalry was given him July 1, 1876. He assumed active command in October, 1876, and continued to exercise it until August, 1882. The appointment of Superintendent of the Mounted Recruiting Service given him at that date, was revoked and that of Superintendent of the Military Academy of West Point and soldier in command at that station, substituted for it. He assumed the position he now fills in the early part of September 1882.

The whole nation feels great interest in the West Point Military Academy, where young men are prepared by hard study and the undergoing of severe military training, to serve their country as officers in command of its brave defenders. One cadet is assigned to each Congressional district and territory in the Union.

How to be Beautiful.

Ladies, you can be sure of this; that you cannot have rosy cheeks and a clear complexion unless you are in good health. Disease always spoils beauty. Parker's Tonic purifies the blood, invigorates the organs, drives all bad humors out of system, and makes the plainest face attractive. Tell your husbands.

The Bad Boy.

BY GEORGE W. PECK.

I notice your pa is wearing a couple of black eyes, and a nose that seems to be a couple of degrees out of plumb," said the grocer, "politics injure any man who gets into the bushes. But did your father denounce you for not laying him out of a scrape? Did he chide you for telling the truth?"

"Well he didn't exactly chide me," said the boy, "but after we got home he tried to show me that it was not always best to be in a hurry about telling the truth." He said a person ought to tell the truth, but he might use some judgment about it. He said if I had evaded the question until he had a chance to run, and get out of the way of the man who smote him, I would have maintained my reputation for veracity, and at the same time saved my pa from being knocked silly. He told me to think it over and hereafter not to be in such a confused hurry to tell the truth. He said people were often placed in an embarrassing position by having too much truth going around loose. Well maybe pa is right and I will be careful hereafter, but telling the truth is my best hold," and the boy went out looking as near like G. Washington as a boy can who had caused his pa to get smote on the nose.

"O, you are all wrong," said the boy, as he took a cold chisel and pried off his nose. "It was not that kind of a cat fight. You see we have a dog that is death on cats. He can't see a cat anywhere but he goes after it, and trees it on a fence, or a tree, or a wood shed, or somewhere. Pa thinks it is cunning, and, nothing I could every say would induce pa to break the dog of the habit of chasing cats. He says cats are no good, and that a good cat dog is worth his weight in gold to any neighborhood. People who owns cats in our neighborhood have got mad and thrown scalding water on the dog until he looks as though he was moulting like a canary bird, and he has had one leg broken by stones thrown by cat proprietors, and he came home one night with one end of him filled with bird shot, but he never let up on cats, and pa encourages him in it. The other day pa and me and the dog took a walk up street and we saw a brindle cat going across the street right near where there was a lot of tropical plants on the bully yard, just outside the sidewalk in front of a handsome house. Pa called the dog's attention to the cat, and said, 'Go for her, Tige!' Tige went for the cat and she and the dog went whooping into the bed of tropical plants, some of them as high as a man's head. Pa looked scared when the dog, and cat went in amongst the plants, cause the man that owned them was out sprinkling his lawn, and he knew the man would be mad. Pa called the dog, but he was busy chasing the cat around amongst the plants, and it was not more than a minute before the plants were all broke down, and the dog and cat were having a monkey and a parrot time. The man who owned the cat was the first to get there, and he owed pa a grudge, and he asked pa what he set his dog on that cat for, and pa said it was a darn lie, and the man hit pa on the side of the nose, and kicked the dog. Pa leaned up against the fence to let his nose bleed in peace, when the man who owned the plants came up and asked pa what he sent his dog into those valuable plants for to retrieve another man's cat, and pa said it was no such a thing and he could prove it by me. The man asked me if my pa did not set the dog on the cat, and as pa had always told me not to tell a lie under any circumstances, I told the man that pa said, 'Go for her, Tige,' and the man was mad, and he squirted about a barrel of water on pa, and then got over the fence, and smote pa on one cheek with his fist, and as pa would not turn the other cheek also, as he had always told me to do, the man took pa by the neck and turned him around and gave him another smote, and that was what blacked his eyes. Pa started to run, but I stayed and saved the dog, and promised to pay for the plants. Pa went home and told me he had the worst fight that ever was, and when I came home he asked if the two men he whipped had been taken to the hospital. Tosh, but I was disgusted with pa for trying to make me believe he was a fighter. But you'd a glace to see the commotion and ent' hair in the bed of tropical plants, and to have seen how pa's countenance changed in a minute. He was laughing to see Tige go for the cat, and spattering his hands, but when the cat owner struck him on the nose, he stopped being tickled so quick his watch ran down, and his face had a woe-begone expression, like a man who is short on wheat. Pa says there is no comfort in keeping a dog in a large city, and he wants me to go to the sausage factory and realize on him. But you don't get left, you het. He was down to the headquarters of his political party before night, showing his wounds and claiming that on his way home from the torchlight procession the night before with his torch and helmet, he was set upon by about fifty political opponents, who were drunk and nearly murdered, and he wants the party to pay him damages. I think politics teaches a good man to be a star liar, don't you?"

"Yes," said the grocer, as he wiped his hands on a piece of brown wrapping paper, after weighing mackerel, "politics injure any man who gets into the bushes. But did your father denounce you for not laying him out of a scrape? Did he chide you for telling the truth?"

"Well he didn't exactly chide me," said the boy, "but after we got home he tried to show me that it was not always best to be in a hurry about telling the truth." He said a person ought to tell the truth, but he might use some judgment about it. He said if I had evaded the question until he had a chance to run, and get out of the way of the man who smote him, I would have maintained my reputation for veracity, and at the same time saved my pa from being knocked silly. He told me to think it over and hereafter not to be in such a confused hurry to tell the truth. He said people were often placed in an embarrassing position by having too much truth going around loose. Well maybe pa is right and I will be careful hereafter, but telling the truth is my best hold," and the boy went out looking as near like G. Washington as a boy can who had caused his pa to get smote on the nose.

POLITICAL POINTS.

In the name of Cupid, Hymen and the honeymoon, who was that Millesburg preacher who officiated at Mr. Blaine's first secret marriage?—Louisville Times.

Mr. Blaine is an unclean man, and the people will not have him. He stands self-condemned of prostituting the high offices he has held to build up a private fortune, cohabiting with corruption for dishonest money. His record would damn him.—Globe Democrat, Rep.

C. B. Lockwood, a life-long friend of tarifield and a stevedore Republican, was President of the immense meeting addressed by Carl Schurz at Cleveland, O., last Thursday evening. A number of prominent German Republicans were among the Vice Presidents. It is almost too much to expect that the Ohio Democrats will triumph in the October election; but should they do it, Blaine will be mashed up as fine as leaves in a hog bed.—Courier-Journal.

EXCHANGE SCINTILLATIONS.

Mrs. Graham, of North Carolina, has had triplets once and twins twice and yet there are people who say that Graham bred amounts to nothing.—Frankfort Capital.

I find money is very tight. It must have been locked up in a bureau all night.—New York Journal.

When a woman hits it happy in the lottery of marriage it's always in the way of a surprize.—Frankfort Capital.

The hen has never been regarded as much of a musician, but it is worthy of note that she is generally at work on a new lay.—[Boston Post.]

We have heard of killing two birds with one stone, but is that as bad as killing a lot of people with one's own? We ask this question of our vocalists.—Old City Derrick.

My object in writing is to ask if some of your friends would desire to start a sand bank. I've got the grit to do it.—[New York Journal.]

This is a Christian and civilized country, but just as soon as a baby is born its parents are anxious to give it a weight.—[Philadelphia Call.]

An Indian baby, born during a terrible storm, has been named Cyclonia. Its father says the appellation is a misnomer. A cyclone doesn't howl every night.—Norristown Herald.

A Chicago lawyer has written a poem called My Conscience. These abstract, fanciful subjects are getting to be altogether too common in modern poetry.—[Burlington Free Press.]

The California fellow who got away from a grizzly with the loss of the gable end of his pants while climbing a tree, said he escaped by a bare scratch.—[Frankfort Capital.]

Grayson! exclaimed an Arkansas man, why confound him! I would have whipped him some time ago had it not been for one thing. What was that? asked an acquaintance. Why you know he whipped me.—Ark. Traveler.

At the last meeting of the Cornelia Lyceum, the motion to purchase a transparency was killed, because of a strong speech made by McSwillegan, who declared that not one member of the Lyceum knew how to paint.

Opportunax! exclaimed an Arkansas man, why confound him! I would have whipped him some time ago had it not been for one thing. What was that? asked an acquaintance. Why you know he whipped me.—Ark. Traveler.

To the Cattle Breeders and Feeders of Kentucky:

There is no longer a question but Pleuro-Pneumonia exists in our midst in a contagious form. The cattle of Messrs. Frisbie and Lake are sickening and dying at a rapid rate with this disease. The Committee appointed by the Convention of the 10th inst., upon consultation with the authorities, that no adequate laws exist in this State for the extirpation of this disease, and that the breeders and feeders are thrown upon their own resources in the treatment of this emergency.

Every cattle breeder and feeder in the State is earnestly requested to attend the meeting appointed for Saturday 27th inst., at 12:30 o'clock, in Lexington, to consider the report made by this committee, and to devise any additional means they may think fit. Only the most energetic and united action will prevent the spread of this insidious disease, that one abroad will entirely destroy the entire interest of the State.

We repeat, cattle of all classes and ages are alike subject to attack, and the owner of one cow has that cow at stake.

CONGRESSIONAL.

The strongest plea urged by Mr. Clay for his selection over Polk LaFoon is, that he is fairly entitled to an endorsement.—But Mr. C. himself earnestly argued differently when McKenzie's friends assumed the same plea.—Nor is it reasonable to insist that those who do not endorse Clay's action on the Civil Service Reform bill, should sanction what the judgment does not approve.—Henderson News.

Although LaFoon had the majority of the Hancock delegation, who went uninstructed to the Convention, he himself withdrew Major Long, and conceded the temporary chairmanship to Mr. Powers. LaFoon showed himself in a private meeting held by his delegates, as to whether they would take advantage of the Hancock majority—like cases of which have appeared in many conventions, and rarely without being taken.

"Gentlemen," said he, "I have lived to be thirty-nine years of age with out a stain on my honor—if we go down let's go down true." And so they did. In Polk LaFoon, we present you a man. Majestic in honor, uncorrupted and true as steel.—Union Local.

Hon. Jas. A. McKenzie has accepted an invitation to speak at Cincinnati October 23.

Two of Arthur's cabinet officers—Hove and Folger—have fled in office within the last eighteen months.

Blaine, Butler and St. John will all be in Indianapolis next Thursday.
The last two will speak at night from the same platform.

To-day is "Hendricks Day" at the Louisville Exposition. The Democratic nominer for Vice-President will be present.

John W. Garrett the millionaire
President of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, died Friday morning at his home at Deer Park, Md., aged 61 years.

The Nevada Vigilantes have hung thirty-three horse thieves this season.
The felonious appropriation of equine flesh is not altogether a pleasant pastime out there.

It is said that "Sunset" Cox will be brought forward by Tammany as its candidate for Mayor of New York City and that he will be acceptable to all factions of the party.

The Committee appointed to officially invite Gov. Cleveland to visit the Louisville Exposition next month, say that while he did not formally accept, it is very probable that he will come.

In climbing upon the platform of a train to show himself Blaine emulates the example of the monkey that climbs a pole. And the higher up the monkey climbs the plainer he shows his unfitness of the office he seeks.

The Cincinnati Enquirer will give the Democratic ticket a genuine and hearty support during the rest of the campaign. It has been half-way Republican heretofore and has done the Democratic cause more harm than good.

Hons. Jno. G. Carlisle and "Quinine Jim" McKenzie both made powerful speeches at a mass-meeting at Columbus, Ohio, last Thursday.
Beck, Blackburn and Breckinridge will also make several speeches in Ohio next month.

From a list of appointments published by the Owensboro Messenger, we see that Messrs Clay and Latson expect to speak here next Friday evening at 7 o'clock. This is the only appointment for this county and the people from the country should come in and hear them.

President Arthur has been visiting Secretary Frelinghuysen for several days and the cause has just leaked out. Chet is spurring his Preacher's young and attractive daughter, Miss Tillie. No wonder Arthur is not throwing up his hat for Blaine. He has other fish to fry.

Scott Thornton, a young elocution-ist, was egged at Newman, Ga., after appearing in delineations of living actors, by a lot of religious cranks.
Their fervor led them to chase the young actor to his hotel, and he harringly escaped being mobbed by the misguided hoodlums.

Blaine continues to exhibit himself throughout the country, by standing on the rear platform of a car as it passes the stations one after another.
It is a humiliating spectacle to see a candidate for the Presidency make a circus of himself, but it is the last desperate resort of a drowning man who is willing to catch at any kind of straw.

No bids have been made for the convict labor and all of the convicts will be returned to the penitentiary to-morrow, Oct. 1st. There are twelve hundred—more than the State prison can comfortably hold. Several hundred of them will be put to work on the branch penitentiary at Eddyville as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made for beginning the work.

THE FAIR.

The 20th annual meeting of the Fair Association will be inaugurated to-morrow. It bids fair to be the most successful meeting ever held.
The meeting has been very extensively advertised, and we are informed by the Secretary, that a very large number of fast trotters are already here and on the way. The first day of the Fair presents an unusual attraction. We understand that 400 or 500 Knights of Pythias are certainly expected. They will march through the principal streets of the city, in full uniform, thence to the Fair Grounds, where a competitive drill will take place in the amphitheater and the prize be awarded. With such an attraction the young and the old of the city and county, and surrounding counties should be present to greet these strangers and give them a cordial welcome. The society in connection with the Knights of Hoplusville have made great preparations and gone to an unusual expense to furnish this display, and now we think that all of our citizens should manifest their interest and co-operation by coming en masse the first day which usually is sparsely attended, and thus make the opening day equal to any day in the week.

The attraction for the second is nearly good. The Japanese Day fire works exhibition, as we have stated before, is an unusual show in the South—very few people ever heard of it before or know now what it is.
The company giving this show, which is offered to the public free, is that without extra charge have recently exhibited to us as high as 17,000 people at one time, and though we cannot expect that number, yet we ought to have 5,000 to see this grand spectacle. The truth is this is a home association, gotten up and sustained in the interest of the farmers and mechanics and business men generally, and we ought to sustain it with our presence and our means.

The price of admission is very small, only 25 cents, that the poorest and humblest citizen can and ought to go.
Remember 25 cents admits to the grounds and no extra charge for the Drill on Wednesday and Fire Works on Thursday. Come one, come all and let us have a grand rally that shall remind us of the olden days, when 6000 people crowded the amphitheater.

Mr. McKenzie now holds the position of Secretary of State under Governor J. Proctor Knott, an office he administers with remarkable ability and great agreeableness. Hardly in the prime of life and with a headful of brains and an eloquent tongue, yet greater honors await him.

[From the Frankfort Capital.]
"QUININE JIM."
Hon. James A. McKenzie.

James A. McKenzie, Secretary of State of Kentucky, whose fine picture in the Capital presents herewith to its readers, was born in Christian county, this state, August 1st, 1840. His education was gained from attendance on the best schools of the county; his collegiate course at Centre College completing his studies. He studied law and obtained license, but preferring the quiet and charm of country life he abandoned law and devoted himself to farming in his native county, where he has continued to hold his legal citizenship. He represented Christian county in the Legislature from 1867-71, and was elector for the State at large during the Greeley campaign of 1872. He was elected member of the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Congresses and was re-elected to the Forty-seventh Congress by a very large majority. His service was distinguished for its statesmanship and for its fidelity, and few members of the Lower House achieved greater distinction than did the subject of this notice.

Mr. McKenzie now holds the position
of Secretary of State under Governor
J. Proctor Knott, an office he administers with remarkable ability and
great agreeableness. Hardly in
the prime of life and with a headful of
brains and an eloquent tongue, yet
greater honors await him.

Mrs. Dr. H. W. Dudley, of Hillsboro, Texas, left for her home yesterday. She will be accompanied by her brother, Mr. C. G. Layne, as far as Fort Worth.

Katie Putnam.

Miss Katie Putnam began a week's engagement at the Opera House last night in "Pancheon, The Cricket." The program for the week is as follows.

Tuesday, (to-night) "Child of the Regiment."

Wednesday, Oct. 1st, "Little Detective."

Thursday, Oct. 2nd, "Lena the Madcap."

Friday, Oct. 3rd, "Old Curiosity Shop."

Saturday, Oct. 4th, "Sun Light."

Tickets on sale at Galtier's Drug Store. Reserved seats 75cts.

K. of P. GRAND LODGE.

The Knights of Pythias Grand Lodge of Kentucky will meet in the Castle Hall at 10 o'clock to-day. An address of welcome will be delivered by Knight Jas. Breathitt on behalf of Evergreen Lodge. A large number of representatives are here and others are expected to-day. Immense delegations of visiting Knights are expected to-morrow. 200 from Henderson and Evansville and Boonesville, Ind., will arrive on a special train, 50 or more are expected from Clarksville. To-morrow will be the biggest day Hopkinsville has seen in a long time. The city is gaily decorated and visitors are pouring in from every direction.

Call for Primary Election.

Pursuant to a call issued by the Democratic Committee of this, the Second Congressional District, at a meeting held at Sebree, September 18, 1884, directing that a primary election be held at the several voting places in each voting precinct in this district on the 13th day of October, 1884, for the purpose of electing a Democratic nominee in this district for the Forty-ninth Congress, and a Democratic nominee in this Congressional district for a member of the State Board of Equalization, a primary election is hereby called in Christian county, to be held on Monday, October 13th 1884, the polls to be open between the hours of 6 A. M. and 6 P. M. for the purposes above set forth.

HERE AND THERE.

Howe's time is the city standard. See the elegant line of gold and silver watches at Howe's.

P. C. C. cures chills. Sold by J. R. Armistead, Hopper & Son and Gish & Garner.

M. L. T. Yancey, of the Fairview neighborhood, died suddenly one night last week.

Mr. R. F. Ferguson, near Pembroke, had his tobacco barn destroyed by fire a few days ago.

Dr. R. A. Armstrong had his barn containing ten acres of tobacco, burned, near Fairview, a week ago.

P. C. cures sick headache and dyspepsia. Sold by Gish & Garner, J. R. Armistead and Hopper & Son, Elegant line of Diamond and other styles of engagement and wedding rings at Howe's, our leading jeweler.

Gray & Young the barbers, say their shop is K. of P. headquarters for all who need anything in their line.

Dr. Wm. M. Fuqua, of this city, was elected to the chair of Anatomy in the Memphis Medical College, on the 27th inst.

The Southern Presbyterian Synod will meet here Oct. 8th and the denomination is making extensive preparations to entertain the visitors.

An immense lot of diamonds, clocks, watches, jewelry, silverware, spectacles, Knights of Pythias pins and badges, &c., just received at M. D. Kelly's.

The Sheriff will leave this week for Frankfort with the two white men and four negroes sentenced to the penitentiary at the recent term of Circuit Court.

Visitors to the Fair must be sure to visit Howe's Jewelry Palace. If you don't you will miss the greatest attraction in Hopkinsville; you will not see another Jewelry store equal to it soon.

Our capital prize, an elegant Story & Camp organ, can now be seen on exhibition at Mr. J. D. McPherson's store. It will be drawn by some one of our subscribers next Saturday.

The Louisville Exposition is now half over. So far comparatively few persons from this section have visited the great show; most of those who contemplate going prefer to wait until next month.

Some of the young people of the city went out to Newstead Friday evening to attend social party at the residence of Dr. Jno. D. Clardy. The affair was highly enjoyed by all who attended. The supper prepared by Mrs. Clardy and her charming daughter, Miss Faunie, was a most delicious one.

Mr. Frank S. Beaumont, of this city, will put up tobacco at Pewee, Ky., next season, and will leave in a few days to superintend the erection of an extensive factory at that point. The Pembroke people will bid Mr. Beaumont courteous and gentlemanly in his dealings, and we doubt not a liberal buyer.—Tobacco Leaf.

Mr. John W. Cooper has gone to Gallatin, Tenn., where he will be located in the interest of the Southern Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Mr. J. T. Wall, of Caledonia, passed through the city Saturday en route home from the East, where he had been to purchase goods for his store.
